In Akutsu's image, the limb is bright and the NPC is colored, but this may have been caused by image processing. The other three people observed Syrtis Major (293W, +0~20) from a position where they could see it. Faint clouds can be seen on the edge of the NPC. If the observation report is small, it is difficult to confirm what is visible, so it would be helpful if they could report it a little larger.
